Women's Center appreciates donations from Meeks

September 10, 2007

The South Lake Tahoe Women's Center thanks Buzz Bera and Meeks Lumber for their generous donation of lumber and supplies. The supplies donated by Meeks Lumber will be used to build the South Lake Tahoe Women's Center Silent Witness exhibit.

Embassy Suites Lake Tahoe Hotel & Ski Resort and the owner of the resort, KEN Corporation, each donated $5,000 to the Angora Fire Fund. The donation was received by (from left) Betty "B" Gorman, Lake Tahoe South Shore Chamber of Commerce; John Steinbach, general manager of Embassy Suites; and Ellen Booker, president of the care committee with Embassy Suites. October is Domestic Violence Awareness Month. The Silent Witness installation is a memorial and event representing people in our community and surrounding areas who were murdered by their intimate partners. Thank you Meeks for helping to make this event a reality.

Barton thanks community for successful blood drive

Chairman Dan Kerr and his committee are pleased and proud of the South Tahoe community's response to the Aug. 22 blood drive.

One hundred seventy-one people donated blood, each receiving "a pint for pint" -- one pint of ice-cream for one pint of precious blood.

Their names are in the hopper to be drawn for free gasoline.

Refer to the Tahoe Daily Tribune's Aug. 21 article for more details.

The next blood drive will be Oct. 22.
